

We are lucky to be surrounded around by green fields. We all live in campus spread over 35 acres. From our hostel's windows we see farmers working in fields. The butterflies are flying around and flowers are blooming. We are lucky to have this rare glimpse. City people never get such opportunity. We can concentrate in studies as there is no distraction here. We have mounds of sand around and being desert area there are camels. Farmers use canal's water for irrigation purpose as water is hard here. We all enjoy a lot here.
