The image shows a group of seven individuals, six young girls and one woman, engaged in processing green leafy plants. They are standing in a line, holding bundles of the plants. In the foreground, two large blue plastic tubs are filled with the processed material. The woman is seated in the center, wearing a black top and a patterned skirt. The girls are wearing various colorful clothing, including blue, yellow, and red shirts. The background features a simple structure with a corrugated metal roof and trees.
